A great many naines have been suggested but none chosen. Up to the present time there is no certainty as to any one man, or even any probability. The city convention tomorrow night will meet with an open mind. What its choice will be I cannot say."

Mr. Norris did not say that it would be a Quaker meeting walting to be moved by the spirit, but his words had that significance.

"And has it been decided whether the delegation chosen to the National Convention will be instructed or not?" he was asked. was asked.

"I cannot say. Nobody knows. Many of the prominent Democrats of the District, including myself, favor an uninstructed delegation, as we have said. But if it develops that sentiment at the city convention is for instructions to the delegation undoubtedly instructions will be given."

gation undoubtedly instruction given."

Now for the facts. A conference of the leaders of the Norris faction will be held tonight, probably at the Metropolitan Hotel, though the meeting place may be changed, Mr. Norris, J. Fred Kelley, John A. Clarke, and several other supporters of Mr. Nørris will be present. Plans will be discussed. A chairman and a secretary for the city convention tomorrow will be averaged on agreed on.

The delegates have been chosen, although Mr. Norris is too modest to acknowledge it. Four of the six will be:
James L. Norris, J. Fred Kelley, John A. Clarke, and William Hart.

Despite Mr. Norris protests of innocence it may be stated on excellent authority that it has been practically decided to instruct the Norris delegates for Mr. Bryan and for the Bryan platform. This decision.

She is Remanded to Jail to Await

Leona Roberts was today convicted of petit larceny in Criminal Court No. 2 on a charge of grand larceny. She was remanded to jail to await sentence. The defendant is a young woman, about twenty-live years old, and has only one ed at Mrs. Downer's home, and stated then and that she was hungry and code and asked permission to remain over night. The request was granted by Mrs. Downer, who after giving the stranger supper, showed her to a room, where she spent the night. At an early hour on the morning of February 20, it was testified that the defendant had left Mrs. Downer's house. About the same time Mrs. Downer's house charges and muff. all valued as $110, were missing. Search for these articles developed the fact that Mrs. Downer's pocketbook, containing $10 and jevalery valued at $35, were also missing.

The loss was immediately reported to Detective Headquarters, and late during the day Leona Roberts was arrested at the Sixth Sireet depot, where his day hen arrested she stated that Mrs. Downer had given her permission, to wear her clothes.
